Historic Mansion Row
NEW ALBANY, INDIANA

This brochure was produced for Develop New Albany, Inc. and Main Street Preservation Association of New Albany, Inc. with the support from the Clark County Convention & Tourism Bureau and Indiana Landmarks. Thank you to Mike Masters, design/graphics, and Josh Munoz, photography. Photographs by David Bakke. Floyd County Historical Society.

Develop New Albany is a nonprofit, Indiana Main Street organization, which is dedicated to the economic revitalization, preservation and promotion of Downtown New Albany and its surrounding historic neighborhoods. For more information about becoming a member, call 812/941-0108.

Main Street Preservation Association was founded in 1974 by a small group of neighbors who were concerned about the inclusion on the tax rolls. Out of that concern grew a sense of neighborhood pride. The vision of the streetscapes remains on the Collected Experience, shared in 1994 from the winning bid submitted for Indiana Main Street Pilot Program in 1994. The Main Street Experience, especially the visual identity, has evolved and continues to improve the quality of the how, when and why of this historic neighborhood.

The Clark County Convention & Tourism Bureau reasons to optimize the “Sunny Side” as a tourist destination, to attract visitors to our community’s tourist facilities and to maintain the economic and social benefits of the tourism industry.

Indiana Landmarks, a private, nonprofit organization founded in 1962, is one of the largest and oldest preservation groups in the U.S. Indiana landmarks coordinate preservation throughout the state and continue to educate improve the quality of the how, when and why of this historic neighborhood.

The New Albany Historic Preservation Commission (NAHPC) is a City-appointed body that is responsible for the designation, protection, and maintenance of historic and low-income historic properties. The NAHPC works in conjunction with the City of New Albany and others to preserve the historic and low-income historic properties in downtown New Albany. The Commission is composed of nine members, three appointed by the Mayor, three by the Commissioners, and three by the Aldermen. The Commission meets monthly and is open to the public.

The New Albany Historic Preservation Commission (NAHPC) is a City-appointed body that is responsible for the designation, protection, and maintenance of historic and low-income historic properties. The NAHPC works in conjunction with the City of New Albany and others to preserve the historic and low-income historic properties in downtown New Albany. The Commission is composed of nine members, three appointed by the Mayor, three by the Commissioners, and three by the Aldermen. The Commission meets monthly and is open to the public.

This brochure was produced for Develop New Albany, Inc. and Main Street Preservation Association of New Albany, Inc. with the support from the Clark County Convention & Tourism Bureau and Indiana Landmarks. Thank you to Mike Masters, design/graphics, and Josh Munoz, photography. Photographs by David Bakke. Floyd County Historical Society.

The New Albany Historic Preservation Commission (NAHPC) is a City-appointed body that is responsible for the designation, protection, and maintenance of historic and low-income historic properties. The NAHPC works in conjunction with the City of New Albany and others to preserve the historic and low-income historic properties in downtown New Albany. The Commission is composed of nine members, three appointed by the Mayor, three by the Commissioners, and three by the Aldermen. The Commission meets monthly and is open to the public.

This brochure was produced for Develop New Albany, Inc. and Main Street Preservation Association of New Albany, Inc. with the support from the Clark County Convention & Tourism Bureau and Indiana Landmarks. Thank you to Mike Masters, design/graphics, and Josh Munoz, photography. Photographs by David Bakke. Floyd County Historical Society.

This brochure was produced for Develop New Albany, Inc. and Main Street Preservation Association of New Albany, Inc. with the support from the Clark County Convention & Tourism Bureau and Indiana Landmarks. Thank you to Mike Masters, design/graphics, and Josh Munoz, photography. Photographs by David Bakke. Floyd County Historical Society.

New Albany developed as a tourist destination, to attract visitors to our community’s tourism facilities and to maximize the revenue for local businesses. The Floyd County Historian, under the supervision of Michael Koerner, Design Center Coordinator; Greg Lee, Design Center at Indiana University Southeast.

Develop New Albany is a nonprofit, Indiana Main Street organization, which is dedicated to the economic revitalization, preservation and promotion of Downtown New Albany and its surrounding historic neighborhoods. For more information about becoming a member, call 812/941-0108.

This brochure was produced for Develop New Albany, Inc. and Main Street Preservation Association of New Albany, Inc. with the support from the Clark County Convention & Tourism Bureau and Indiana Landmarks. Thank you to Mike Masters, design/graphics, and Josh Munoz, photography. Photographs by David Bakke. Floyd County Historical Society.

This brochure was produced for Develop New Albany, Inc. and Main Street Preservation Association of New Albany, Inc. with the support from the Clark County Convention & Tourism Bureau and Indiana Landmarks. Thank you to Mike Masters, design/graphics, and Josh Munoz, photography. Photographs by David Bakke. Floyd County Historical Society.
The Independent German-American School was established in 1867 for the benefit of the German-speaking citizens of the community. The school was located near the former site of the New Albany High School on East Main Street. The building was donated by the community to the school district. The building was razed in 1965 to make way for a new high school.

The Independent German-American School was established in 1867 for the benefit of the German-speaking citizens of the community. The school was located near the former site of the New Albany High School on East Main Street. The building was donated by the community to the school district. The building was razed in 1965 to make way for a new high school.